

My Reading Chart

Color a spine each time you finish a book!

The form consists of a large outer rectangle divided into three horizontal sections by two lines. Each section contains ten vertical, rounded rectangular shapes representing book spines, arranged in a slightly wavy pattern. The top section has spines of varying heights, with the tallest spine in the center. The middle and bottom sections are identical to the top one. This is a template for a reading chart where users color the spines of books they have finished reading.